Executive Summary

ETF managed portfolios are investment strategies that typically have more than 50% of portfolio assets invested in exchange-traded funds. Primarily available as separate accounts, these portfolios represent one of the fastest-growing segments of the managed-account universe. Professional money managers are packaging portfolios of ETFs into investment strategies to meet a wide array of investor and advisor demands.

Morningstar's proprietary, portfolio attribute classification system for ETF managed portfolios consists of four main attributes: Universe, Asset Breadth, Portfolio Implementation, and Primary ETF Exposure Type. This system relies on our analysis of the investment strategy and disclosed portfolios and aids key decision-makers in better understanding the philosophies underlying this growing crop of investment strategies. Growth in assets from advisor demand is being driven by multiple factors. The fiduciary standard continues to move forward as the baseline philosophy for managing client portfolios, and, as a result, growth in the fee-based model is tilting portfolios toward lower-cost, broad-based investments for a larger part of client portfolios, with a focus on asset allocation.

Key Takeaways

- ▶ Morningstar is tracking 737 strategies from 148 firms with total assets of $75 billion through September 2015.
- ▶ Total assets in these strategies tracked by Morningstar fell 6% in the third quarter of 2015.
- ▶ Global All-Asset strategies retain the top position, collectively accounting for 32% of the universe.
- ▶ F-Squared Investments strategies have been removed from the database. The removal of these strategies accounts for 70% of the decline in universe assets since end-June.

Landscape Highlights

Assets in ETF managed portfolios fell for the fifth consecutive quarter during the three months ending September 2015. At the end of September, strategies in Morningstar's database had collective assets under management and assets under advisement of $75 billion, just slightly above the level reported at the end of the first quarter of 2013.

The recent decline has been largely driven by the removal of strategies offered by F-Squared Investments from our database. This accounted for 70% of the decline in assets on a quarter-over-quarter basis. Although Broadmeadow Capital acquired F-Squared Investments in September, it has chosen to discontinue reporting for its nondiscretionary index strategies for data validation reasons. The firm plans to reinstate five of its AlphaSector composites to the database at a later date.

Moving Forward

Platforms (AssetMark) and asset managers (AGF) have sought new strategies to fill the gaps in their lineups left behind by F-Squared Investments. As a result, a sizable amount of assets have shifted hands, re-entering the universe under new names. This quarter, AssetMark expanded its menu by adding several new managers to its platform, including Julex Capital Management and Clark Capital Management. Meanwhile, Canada-based AGF Management hired FFCM to replace F-Squared Investments as the subadvisor for its U.S. Sector Class Fund. Also, for the first time since assets began to decline in 2014, this universe saw net inflows in the third quarter, amounting to an estimated $0.5 billion.

ETF Managed Portfolio Attributes

Morningstar's attribute structure for ETF managed portfolios gives investors and primary decision-makers more granular information to better compare one strategy's portfolio, philosophy, and potential profile with another. The new attribute classifications rely on both our analysis of the investment strategy as well as a historical review of disclosed holdings.

Our new structure consists of four main attributes: Universe, Asset Breadth, Portfolio Implementation, and Primary ETF Exposure Type. With better insight into a strategy's attributes, investors can better understand its broad philosophy. These four attributes are then further broken down into a list of unique classifications. Each strategy is assigned one classification within each attribute.

Exhibit 1 Attribute and Classification Summary

International	Alternative	Strategic	Sector
United States	Balanced Equity Fixed Income	Tactical	Country/Region All-Inclusive

Universe

The first attribute describes the starting scope of a strategy's investment process on a global basis. The distinction is based upon the exposure of the underlying securities within the ETF used, not the domicile of the ETF itself. The classifications for this attribute are United States, International, and Global.

- ▶ United States: U.S. portfolios primarily use ETFs providing exposure to U.S. equity and fixed-income securities.
- ▶ International: International portfolios primarily use ETFs providing exposure to non-U.S. equity and fixed-income securities.
- ▶ Global: These strategies have the opportunity to add exposure to any market across the globe and have historically employed such flexibility.

The initial selection of this attribute is based on many factors, included a review of the strategy's current Morningstar Separate Account Category and Institutional Category, as well as an analysis of available portfolios. Where available, we've also reviewed a firm's deck or description of the investment strategy to note any starting universe or list of available ETFs or asset classes for investment. In benchmark or starting portfolios, the Global attribute was assigned to strategies with at least an 80/20 split among U.S. and International exposure. We also took into account, where necessary, the regional exposure of the dominant asset driver designated in the Asset Breadth attribute.

Asset Breadth

The classifications within this attribute indicate a strategy's primary asset class exposure or returns driver. There are five options here: All-Asset, Alternative, Balanced, Equity, and Fixed Income. These selections don't indicate that the whole portfolio is, for example, invested in equities or bonds, but rather sets the expectation for advisors and investors regarding the primary driver of returns. Classification within this attribute includes an analysis of historical portfolio asset allocations and a review, if available, of a strategy's investment policy benchmark, or starting portfolio, or naïve portfolio.

- ▶ All-Asset: These strategies typically have the widest and most-flexible mandate when investing in ETFs across asset classes. In reviewing the portfolios, we designated this attribute to strategies that consistently held more than 10% in "Other" assets as well as in underlying equity and fixed-income securities.
- ▶ Alternative: Alternative strategies typically seek returns uncorrelated to traditional equity and fixed-income markets by attempting to remove one or more asset betas or return drivers. Strategies with this attribute designation include long/short or other alternative strategies, including currencies.
- ▶ Balanced: The balanced option indicates strategies in which the return driver is a combination of equity and fixed-income exposure on a dedicated, ongoing basis. These strategies typically have a 30% to 70% allocation to equities.
- ▶ Equity: The primary asset driver of these strategies is long or beta-type exposure to equity securities. The use of leverage by the underlying ETF is ignored. These strategies typically have at least a 70% allocation to equities.
- ▶ Fixed Income: The primary asset driver of these strategies is long or beta-type exposure to fixed-income securities. The use of leverage by the underlying ETF is ignored. These strategies typically have less than a 30% allocation to equities.

Portfolio Implementation

This attribute gives insight into the investment manager's process for implementing a portfolio's investment strategy. Selection decisions for this attribute are based upon a review of the degree of changes both within and among asset classes in a portfolio. As a result, changes to the cash/equity/fixed income/other allocation, as well as to a portfolio's U.S./non-U.S. exposure, are considered. The three classifications are Hybrid, Strategic, and Tactical.

- ▶ Hybrid: This option indicates portfolios that utilize a combination of tactical and strategic elements in asset allocation. Hybrid portfolios, for example, start with a stated investment policy benchmark or asset allocation but allow for significant deviations of exposure within and between allocations, similar to "core and satellite" or "hub and spoke" operating models.
- ▶ Strategic: These are strategies that establish and maintain a long-term allocation plan across either asset classes, sectors, or a combination thereof. These portfolios may deviate from the plan in short-term periods based on identified opportunities but typically to a smaller degree compared with tactical strategies. Strategies for which few historic portfolios have been provided to our database initially default to this classification.
- ▶ Tactical: Tactical strategies engage in short-term and potentially large changes in the asset mix of a portfolio to capitalize on identified investment opportunities. These changes are typically intended to be reversed or removed.

Primary ETF Exposure Type

The last attribute identifies the type of ETF typically used to gain exposure to the Universe and Asset Breadth attributes. Selection is based upon analysis of past portfolios and information regarding a strategy's starting universe or list of potential investments.

- ▶ Broad Market: Broad-based ETFs tracking diversified indexes such as the Russell 2000 Index, S&P 500, or Barclays Aggregate Bond.
- ▶ Sector: Strategies that primarily use individual equity sector ETFs, such as those focusing on financials, or more narrowly focused fixed-income ETFs to gain exposure within the Asset Breadth attribute. A sector fixed-income strategy is typically one focused on a single sector such as municipals or Treasury ETFs.
- ▶ Country/Region: Similar to the sector option, these strategies utilize single-country, regional, or currency ETFs focused on a geographical region and are typically found in the international or global Universe attribute.
- ▶ All-Inclusive: All ETFs meeting the Universe and Asset Breadth criteria for a strategy are potential investments.

We believe our attribute classification system gives decision-makers a significant new tool for conducting research on these strategies and provides better expectations for potential exposures across the ETF universe. For instance, a tactical strategy with a global, balanced mandate that happens to have a large exposure to United States equities at one specific point in time has a greater potential for change going forward compared with a strategy with a U.S. equity mandate.

Return Type Identifiers: 1. performance is a composite of live discretionary accounts; 2. performance is a composite of live non-discretionary accounts; 3. performance is from one, single non-discretionary source and is used as a representative return stream for the entire model; 4. performance is hypothetical based on a model's positions. The model is being used to manage live assets, but the returns reported are not from the non-discretionary source. The model used to calculate returns is identical to what is being delivered to third-parties and not altered with the advantage of hindsight.
